Summer 2021 ■ High Park Amphitheatre

Join the Producer's Club at Canadian Stage and support innovative, contemporary live performing arts this summer.

Join the Producer's Club to support what will be the cornerstone of the performing arts in the City of Toronto. Be a part of this exciting community and hub of activity.

Nestled within the natural grandeur of High Park, a beloved cultural destination in the city of Toronto, the Amphitheatre has been home to Canadian Stage performances during the summer months for almost forty years.

During the summer of 2021, the Dream in High Park will transform the Amphitheatre into a 20-week program featuring a diverse array of presentations including theatre, contemporary dance, concerts, film and family programming.

Cast of Much Ado About Nothing

Partnering with nearly 20 arts organizations and groups, Canadian Stage's Dream in High Park will increase the resiliency of many not-for-profit arts organizations up-ended by the pandemic by working together in a COVID-safe, outdoor performance venue. Ticket pricing will be accessible, with at least 50% of all tickets by Pay-What-You-Can.

canadian stage presentations:

- An Evening with Jeremy Dutcher
- New Commission in collaboration with dance Immersion
- Maggie & Me: A Healing Dance - a Friday Creations production in partnership with Native Earth Performing Arts
- Is My Microphone On? New work by Governor General's Awards winning playwright Jordan Tannahill
